MEDIA ADVISORY

ICJIA to Host Lunchtime Discussion with Chicago Police Department on Procedural Justice in Policing

WHAT: As part of the ICJIA Lunch & Learn series, ICJIA researchers, Chicago Police Department personnel, and a police training expert will discuss procedural justice and why it matters for police and communities. Procedural justice emphasizes the need for police to demonstrate their legitimacy to the public in four areas—voice, transparency, fairness, and impartiality. Attendees will receive an overview on procedural justice and legitimacy in policing, a research presentation on procedural justice, and learn how the Chicago Police Department is employing procedural justice tenets to improve police-community relations. A discussion will follow.

WHO: Marc Buslik, Commander, 19th District, Chicago Police Department
Jason Escamilla, Ph.D., ICJIA Research Analyst
Jessica Reichert, ICJIA Senior Research Analyst, Manager of the ICJIA Center for Research & Evaluation
Robin Robinson, Special Adviser for Community Affairs, Chicago Police Department
Jason Stamps, Associate Director, Center for Public Safety and Justice, University of Illinois at Chicago

WHEN: Monday, December 4, from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

WHERE: ICJIA Headquarters, 300 W. Adams Street, Suite 200, in Chicago.
